RELATED STUDY PROGRAM

PREAMBLE

Related Study Programme (RSP) is conducted every year, in the month of Nov.-Dec., as a compulsory study exercise, in the first three years and it is referred as RSP-1, 2 & 3, respectively.

Since each RSP lies exactly between the semesters, the intent of each has an immediate obligation towards the semesters preceding & following it. There is a good chance that the design studio problem of the following semester might be located somewhere at the RSP place, to benefit from the students' familiarity with the place.

INTENTION

To see the application or manifestation of the knowledge, that is gained in the classroom, in real-life situations - through meticulous Observation, Inferences & Conclusion.

To experience architecture in the whole scheme of things -the environment, society, inhabitants, and then the architectural/ constructional aspects as being derivations thereof.

To learn otherwise from Life, through adaptation, exposure & experience. While being an academic exercise, the absence of the "classroom" contributes to this "other learning".
